

*CE marking is a mandatory legal requirement for most machinery, electric and electronic products, pressure equipment, hot water boilers, medical devices, potentially explosive atmospheres equipment and toys sold or put into service in Europe.
 CE is also required for many other types of products.*

"CE Marking Basics"

This half-day seminar presents an overview of European technical regulations and the CE marking product compliance system. "CE Marking Basics" is designed to help manufacturers, suppliers, and other product oriented organizations better understand the benefits, challenges and implications of CE marking.

Topics include:

- What is CE marking, the New Approach Directives, and products that require CE marking
- The benefits and challenges of CE marking you product.
- How CE marking will affect your product.
- Products that require CE marking, countries that require or are considering CE marking
- How to minimize the costs associated with CE marking.
- European marketing and distribution considerations.
- Penalties for being non-compliant in a European country.
- European marketing and technical harmonization trends.
- E-commerce in Europe, Presumption of Conformity, CEN, CENELEC, and ETSI

You and your company will have the opportunity to discuss European regulations and codes with professionals who are knowledgeable and specialize in CE Marking regulations.
